PRINT THAW TRIAL.

Dr. John Henry Cudlippe Says Every Line Should Be Printed.

Wichita, Kan., Feb. 18.—In a sermon on morality entitled "Women's Rights," Dr. John Henry Cudlippe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, declared last night that all the evidence in the Thaw trial should be printed.

"I want to see every line of the Thaw evidence printed," said Dr. Cudlippe, "and I want to read it. I think the public should read it. President Roosevelt is making a great mistake—a great mistake—when he tries to suppress any of the testimony. It should all be printed and read."

IN THE THEATERS.

Majestic, the New Vaudeville House,
Is Open.

One of the best vaudeville shows that has been seen in Topeka, and that is saying a good deal, but the statement is not an extravagant one, is presented by the acts on this week's bill at the Novelty theater. And although the Novelty had competition yesterday through the opening of another vaudeville house in the city, its business was not diminished in the slightest. The house was packed to the doors at all of the performances yesterday afternoon and last night. Eugene Ellsworth and Miss Midge Burt, in a hilarious little farce called "Home, Sweet Home," are easily the headliners on the bill, although all the other acts are well above the average of their class. Both Mr. Ellsworth and Miss Burt do some really clever acting and medium work, and their efforts are a bright spot, almost every line of which is a laughmaker. Mays and Hunter are styled on the program as the "World's First Banjoists," and it is likely that they deserve the designation, for it would undoubtedly be hard to find better banjo players. For a novelty theater, the bill is called the largest banjo in the world. It looks the part and is of the same relative size to an ordinary banjo as a mass viol is to fiddle. Miss Burt and Miss Ulline, garbed like automobile girls, indulge in some bright conversation and sing some good songs, and the other act is furnished by a team of clog dancers, whose work is of a high order. For an illustrated song, Clarence B. Martine sings "The Man Has His Eyes On You," and the moving picture depicts "The Automobile Thieves."

The Majestic theater opening was attended Sunday by a crowd that comfortably filled Topeka's new amusement house. No little interest has been manifested in the new theater and although the building was formerly used as the rate printing plant it has been remodeled so that it makes a very creditable theater for the purposes for which it has been opened. On account of the newness of everything there were a few hitches, but the vaudeville bill was good and the audience liked it and made allowances for the hitches. The most serious criticism of the house seems to be that the acoustics are not as good as might be, but this defect may doubtless be remedied. Stanton and Sanberg, a clever singing and dancing team make things lively for 10 or 15 minutes. Kalamitrus presents one of the best juggling and hoop rolling acts ever seen in Topeka. Billy Link and Charters, the former made up as a negro major general with a painted army and the latter a bouffonnette, give an entertaining act. Roy Shreve sings the illustrated song "When the Jasmine is in Bloom" and a moving picture ends the performance.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver who will lecture at the First Baptist church tonight on his work in the justice court which has made him a national figure, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fredenhagen in Potwin. He will leave tomorrow. Judge Lindsey's lecture, "Save the Children, Is given under the auspices of the Society of Charities and Corrections."

The S. R. was growing because she had lost her railroad transportation. "I should think," a man suggested, "that it would be easy for you to get a pass while the legislature is in session. Why don't you ask some of these state men who stand in with the railroads for it? You print enough stuff about their wives to license you to demand one in exchange for advertising."

Miss Emma Viets will give a dinner at the Glenwood tonight for Mrs. A. P. Havely and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Vincent of Girard. The other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cole, Judge and Mrs. C. E. Foote, Chappell Foote, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lagerstrom, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Burns, Miss Maul Boner, Mr. Frazier Cole, Mr. W. B. Smith.

A business woman was seen riding in an automobile with a member of the smart set. "Doesn't that prove," said a scoffing cynic as they pulled past, "the wonderful possibilities which this country offers to ambition? There's a poor working girl who has risen by her own unaided efforts to that dizzy height! Doesn't it prove again that this is the poor man's country where all have an equal chance to succeed? Verily industry, perseverance and virtue are their own reward."

Mrs. J. B. Furry was the hostess of the Monday Whist club today. The substitutes were Mrs. Harold T. Chase, Eugene S. Quinton, Mrs. Schuyler C. Nichols, Mrs. A. J. Cole and Mrs. L. S. Ferry.

George Ade's latest syndicated effusions bring Alice in Wonderland down to date. Alice has grown-up and has become "bulky around the shoulders," and her idea of "good lively employment" is to be patroness of something. She is keenly interested in all charitable enterprises that will keep her name in the nosy old Newspapers at the top of the Column next to Furs Reading Matter. The Wonderland which this modern, grown-up Alice finds is just our plain old workaday world turned so topsy-turvy that everything goes right instead of wrong. She has an ideal day starting out with her husband praising the coffee instead of growling about it, and kissing her cheek when he leaves for work by about three inches.

In the afternoon she attends a club meeting described as follows: "This club, of which she was one of the Arc Lights, had been organized for no particular purpose except to give a large number of the Unemployed a good excuse for rounding up somewhere once a week."

It was not trying to regulate Congress or apply Germicide to most of the literature turned out by the Male Sex. The organization was simply going along. Mrs. Fred Dumont Smith at the Copeland, returned home yesterday. Mrs. Smith and her guests and Mrs. Thomas T. Kelly spent Friday and Saturday in Kansas City and saw Nance O'Neil at the Willis Wood and Madame Bertha Kalich at the Schuberts.

Miss Susan Gay of Kansas City left last week for New York to visit her cousins, Mrs. Edward Epps and Mrs. Roy Allen, for the remainder of the winter.

GOWN OF LAVENDER BROADCLOTH.

The sketch shows a dressy and very attractive model for a cloth gown, the original costume being of pale violet chiffon broadcloth. The skirt was cut in five gores and was trimmed with applied bands of satin exactly matching the cloth, and satin-covered buttons with cord loops. The corage was cut out in skeleton effect over heavy twine-colored lace. The little inner yoke was of transparent cream-colored lace, the sleeves also being of this thinner lace.

lated her with evident Sincerity—also kissed her.
"I am quite sure, my dear, that the Welfare of the Club will be enhanced by your election," she said. "You are more prominent socially than I am and can preside with more Grace and have better Executive Ability, so I am delighted with the Result."
But at the end of the story Alice wakes up.

Mrs. A. A. Rodgers will ask guests for luncheon Wednesday.

The people who afraid to say it to your face and who sends anonymous "complaints" of his girl friends, examined a row in the exclusive circles of Muskogee, I. T., which threatens to break up the smart set there. The local chapter of the Goat club was busy in this direction, too, but it is not believed that the shoe pinched hard enough in any instance to start a row.

The Gao Lang club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klingaman on Tuesday evening instead of Monday evening.

A French statistician recently addressed the question, "Why do you wish to marry?" to more than 200 single women and received many curious replies. A Topeka woman says the reason she wishes to marry is in order to have somebody to button her waists in the back.

There is said to be another row in the Mutual Admiration society which has dominated the smart set for the past five or six years. Of course it will probably be patched up but it has suggested an alarming contingency: would the dissolution of the M. A. leave us without a smart set?

The Lotus club will meet February 27, with Mrs. F. H. Vaughn, 1615 Buchanan street.

A new gentleman's club is to be organized in Topeka to be known as the Perfect Ladies' Tuxedo club.

A curious bachelor who has a mania for looking through the shopping bags of his friends, examined three the other afternoon belonging to a group of debutantes with whom he was drinking chocolate at the soda fountain. One girl had six cents, one three cents and the third, one lone penny. The average girl has a pocket-book that cost from five to thirty dollars and in it a sample of silk or lace, a newspaper clipping, some visiting cards and car fare enough to get home on.

A man who is going to New York next week on business will pay excess baggage charges on account of packages sent to their eastern kin by his acquaintances who want to save express rates or fear that the things they have to send would be broken unless sent by a trustworthy messenger. Not only will he have to go to Brooklyn, Hoboken, upper Hudson and New Rochelle, to deliver packages but he has been asked to take a day off from business and run down to Long Island with a jar of tomato preserves, and up to Irvington with a boarding school girl's spring underwear.

"Mr. A. is carrying his mourning to extremes, isn't he?"
"I should say so. Why I haven't even seen him with off-color woman—since his wife died."

Notes and Personal Mention.

Mrs. R. E. Edwards and Mrs. F. B. Hine of Kinsley, who were guests of Mrs. Fred Dumont Smith at the Copeland, returned home yesterday. Mrs. Smith and her guests and Mrs. Thomas T. BARGE IS WRECKED.

Two Men Drowned in Massachusetts Disaster.

Highland Light, Mass., Feb. 18.—The barge Girard, coal laden, went ashore today near Highland Light life saving station, and two of her crew were drowned. Captain Larsen and another member of the crew were saved by the life savers. The barge will be a total loss.

Shortly before 11 o'clock two other barges were sighted driven ashore on Peaked Hill bar. The life savers at once prepared to go to their assistance. It is believed the two, in company with the Girard, were in tow of the tug Valley Forge. The tug and three barges were sighted going north at dark last night, but the tug has not been seen today.

The barge was in tow of the tug Valley Forge bound from Philadelphia for Boston. In the heavy northeast gale which prevailed early today with a thick snow storm, the Girard broke adrift and was driven ashore. She was aboard the stranded vessel and Captain Larsen and Seaman Morton Burke were brought ashore in the breeches buoy. Seamen Joseph Johnson and Joseph J. Johnson were caught in the cabin and drowned.

Shortly before 1 o'clock one of the barges, believed to be the Alaska, was thrown on the beach by the breakers. In a few moments went to the bottom with all hands on board. It is believed that there were at least two or four in the lost crew.

The two barges in distress are the Alaska and the Bethayres.

WANTS KANSAS TO HELP.

W. B. Neff Here to Urge Appropriation for Seattle Exposition.

W. B. Neff, of Seattle, who is in Topeka trying to induce the legislature to appropriate $50,000 for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition to be held in Seattle in 1909, thinks that the sentiment of the Kansas legislature toward his project is a more friendly attitude than at first. The bill carrying the appropriation will be presented to the senate as a ways and means committee bill, it will provide for the appointment of a committee of five, to be appointed by the governor, to handle the appropriation. These commissioners would be paid a per diem salary of probably $10 each.

The bill may have some hard sledding in the house, where Cyrus Leland, the chairman of the ways and means committee, is opposed to the project.

Mr. Neff is entrusted with the work of securing a state appropriation from Kansas, Missouri and Illinois. He said today:

"Governor Folk of Missouri and Governor Deneen of Illinois are each ready to send a special message to the legislature recommending the appropriation. Governor Hoch also feels very friendly to the plan. We think that Kansas, with its $50,000, can build a $130,000 building, collect the splendid state display. If Kansas does not desire to have a state building, we will assign it space for its displays in the mines, agricultural and other general buildings of the exposition."

"This exposition will be about as large as the Chicago exposition of 1893, and four times as large as the Portland exposition. It is a purely business proposition. We will bring together the representatives of all the nations on the Pacific ocean, and representatives of all the states of the union, the object being to develop trade relations between the United States and the South American and oriental countries. Kansas might as well improve the opportunity to open up new markets for its grain, its cement, and its other immense resources."

"We have a vast number of former Kansas people out there in Washington. The Sunflower club has a membership of 4,000. Our governor, Governor Meade, is a former Kansas man, and I have a letter of introduction from him to Governor Hoch. R. A. Ballinger, one of the vice-presidents of the exposition, and former mayor of Seattle, was raised in Kansas, and received his education at Washburn college. He attended at Washburn the same time with Charley Holliday. He has been practicing law in Seattle for twelve years, and has recently been appointed commissioner of the state of Washington, and is now in Washington. He will assume that office on March 4."

"This trouble between the Japanese and the people of San Francisco has been stirred up by the yellow newspapers. The people of the Pacific coast do not hold these sentiments. We welcome Japanese immigration, and recognize in the Japanese a very valuable class of citizens. There is not the slightest danger of war between Japan and the United States."

MEASLES IS EPIDEMIC.

Sixty Cases Are Reported to Board of Health.

Sixty cases of measles are under quarantine in the city. All of these were reported since the first of the month, this at a rate in excess of three new cases each day.

A great many cases exist that are not reported to the city board of health and these help in the spread of measles notwithstanding the valiant efforts of the sanitary department to stamp it out. A large number of the patients are of mature age and in their case the disease is of a severe type.

The west portion of the city seems to be the area most largely affected than any other. In the Fourth and Sixth wards small districts exist which are entirely given over to measles.

"It's nothing to be alarmed at," said Dr. H. B. Hogeboom, city physician. "I don't know why or how to account for the great number of cases at this time. The weather has not much affected it as it may lead to complications, such as pneumonia in conjunction with the measles. The pneumonia existing is indeed a serious matter. It takes very careful attention to pull a patient through in the presence of a complication of this nature."

"I presume we can give credit to the spread of the measles to the cases which are not reported to us and therefore are not under quarantine today."

Six cases were reported on Thursday, eight on Friday and seven on Sunday, no new adult cases had been placed under quarantine today.

The new cases reported are: S. Gordon, 1029 Woodward avenue, G. B. Hedington, 1112 Van Buren street, W. C. Glenn, 806 West Sixth avenue, C. W. Cimickel, 1813 Van Buren, W. M. Swank, 57 Norris, E. W. Rake, 403.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Store and Stock of Ed Mathes at Womer Burns—Good Insurance.

Smith Center, Kan., Feb. 18.—The general store of Ed Mathes, at Womer, Smith county, a country town about 20 miles northeast of Smith Center, was totally destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. Mr. Mathes carried a stock of $10,000 to $12,000, which was a total loss, on which there was an insurance of about $8,000.

This store is one of the largest in Smith county, and has been doing a splendid business. The origin of the fire is unknown. The burning of the building about 11 o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Mathes is so popular in his community that his friends at once tendered him ample aid to rebuild a restock it. He had been in business for the last dozen years.
